

Mounting information for concentricity gauges measuring internal diameters

The slide can be rotated through 90° allowing rapid clearance and positioning for changing parts

The slide is adjusted with a screw. The two positioning holes allow for an extended working area.